+  AUTOBEAT DAILY

The Automotive Industry’s Premier Integrated Marketing Solution

AutoBeat has long been the first place automotive executives and decision makers turn each morning to get a focused, first look at industry news. Over the years, AutoBeat has grown from an automotive news service to an automotive networking service. We connect the automotive industry through a wide array of custom solutions – web, email, events, video, etc. In recent years, we have sought partnerships that would assist in our continued evolution from news to networking to knowledge provider. Earlier this year, we found our partner in Gardner Business Media, Inc.

With this piece, we are excited to announce our partnership with Gardner Business Media, Inc., in particular, Automotive Design & Production, to create the automotive industry’s most complete integrated marketing solution and most comprehensive information resource.

The following pages provide a brief overview of AutoBeat Daily and Automotive Design & Production.

Total Market Coverage

Dedicated to helping decision makers produce more efficient vehicles, AD&P is the only magazine to address product and process development through the automotive supply chain. Our balanced circulation provides a unique audience for your advertising message. AD&P also delivers more management readers than our competition, along with a targeted base of design and manufacturing engineers.
